

Nursing Week 2026: Public Service Announcement

This Nursing Week, Ontario's nurses are telling the public: We all deserve more, not less.

Every day, nurses advocate for their patients, residents, and clients. It's a standard of care they're not willing to compromise on. Even in the face of impossible workloads. Even as their jobs are getting cut.

Nurses are experts in care, fighting for change. And now they need you to fight with them.

From May 11 to 17, join the call for safe staffing, sustainable funding and better public health care.

Not just for nurses. But for everyone.

A message from the Ontario Nurses' Association.
